A new airfield at Stare Rory is to be the largest military airfield for heavy bombers in Czechoslovakia. Work on the field began in the spring of 1952. Work is progressing slowly, because only one bulldozer is in operation at the construction site, the excavated dirt being carried away in wheelbarrows. Shortages of equipment are allegedly preventing the field from being completed.

Comment. It is not clear whether Stare Rory (050/M61) or Stare Rory (049/077) is meant.
